This non-performance course focuses on the study of theatre and its relationship to: 1) the cultures and societies who create theatre; 2) other entertainment media such as film and television; and 3) audience development. This course introduces students to elements of the production process including playwriting, acting, directing, design, and criticism. Students will also survey different periods, styles, and genres of theatre through play reading, discussion, films, and viewing and critiquing live theatre, including a required field trip to a play at a professional or community theatre. Attendance at live performances is required.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- recognize and evaluate elements of the production process, including different aspects of playwriting, acting, directing, design, and criticism.
- differentiate and explain the origins, forms, and functions of different periods, styles, and genres of theatre.
- apply critical viewing methods for live theatre, film, and television.

This course is a study of the masterpieces of the Theatre from the Greeks to the Nineteenth Century. Lectures include the historical and cultural environment out of which the plays were written and an analysis of plays from a variety of viewpoints including their historical moment and their lasting impact upon a contemporary audience. The course will also include an investigation into the synergy of theatrical performance and theatre architecture development and the continuing impact of these issues on a contemporary audience. Students are required to see three productions during the semester - the two MainStage Departmental offerings, and one of the student's choice, either on or off campus.
Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- identify and analyze the connection between cultural and historical location in the development of theatrical styles, performance, and architecture.
- analyze performance intention and audience response to performance.
- analyze a variety of exemplar plays from each theatrical period.
- identify theatrical conventions and theatre architecture of each major theatre period.
- explain the connection between theatrical performance and cultural, historical, and national identity.

TA 303 History and Theory of the Theatre II

This course is a study of the principal types of twentieth century theatre. Lectures include the historical and cultural environment out of which the plays were written and an analysis of plays from a variety of viewpoints including their historical moment and their lasting impact upon a contemporary audience. The course will also include an investigation into the synergy of theatrical performance and theatre architecture development and the continuing impact of these issues on a contemporary audience. Students are required to see three productions during the semester: two on-campus, and one of their choice either on or off campus.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- identify and analyze the connection between cultural and historical location in the development of theatrical styles.
- analyze performance intention and audience response to performance.
- analyze a variety of plays within the major trends of theatrical development throughout the Twentieth Century.
- calculate and categorize the connection between theatrical performance and cultural, historical, and national identity.

TA 308 Diversity in American Theatre

This non-performance course is an introduction to American cultural diversity in and through theatre. The course will identify, compare, and contrast the cultural identities, histories, and artistic expressions of Asian/Pacific Americans; Black/African Americans; Chicano/Latino/Hispanic Americans; European-Americans; Native Americans; and multi-racial/multi-ethnicity/multi-nationality and immigrant groups. The social, cultural, and political contexts that shaped these works will also be discussed. Constructs of race, ethnicity, class, gender, and sexuality will be examined and compared cross-culturally. Topics will be covered through readings, lectures, discussions, and required attendance at live play productions, on campus, and at professional or community theaters.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- investigate, analyze, compare, and contrast dramatic literature of the cultural, political, and social communities identified in the course description.
- distinguish and evaluate types, conventions, and innovations of representative plays and playwrights.
- identify and analyze stereotypes and cultural misrepresentations within the contexts of racism, ethnocentrism, classism, xenophobia, gender bias, and homophobia.
- critique live play productions in order to develop a greater appreciation for various forms of live theatre.
- synthesize elements of critical theory and apply them to television, film, and other popular media, in order to facilitate a broader understanding of contemporary issues raised in these works.

TA 342 Introduction to Acting

This course is an introduction to stage performance. Included is a classroom investigation of performance through the use of theatre games, movement, sensory awareness, and improvisation. The course is designed for the student interested in self-expression through informal drama.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:
apply elementary participatory techniques used in the process of acting.

demonstrate a knowledge of basic terminology and process of the art of acting.

analyze by means of assigned structured improvisation the elemental tools of the actor’s craft.

demonstrate an understanding of how to approach a scene.

TA 350 Theory and Techniques of Acting I

Units: 3
Hours: 54 hours LEC
Prerequisite: None.
Transferable: CSU; UC
C-ID: C-ID THTR 151
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course explores the theories and techniques used in the preparation of a role for the stage. Memorized acting scenes are staged and performed in the classroom. The course is designed for majors in theatre arts and communication.

Student Learning Outcomes

- define individual acting obstacles, determine strengths, and develop total acting potential.
- evaluate scene work developed from published, contemporary plays.
- demonstrate an awareness of the importance of discipline, exactness, persistence, diligence, imagination, and teamwork in the craft of acting.
- synthesize a methodology for developing a role outside of rehearsal in order to meet the defined obligations to the text, playwright, and director.
- apply appropriate attributes and techniques to create a character which is believable and appropriate to the style and genre of the play from which the scene is taken.

TA 364 Shakespeare Without Fear

Units: 3
Hours: 54 hours LEC
Prerequisite: None.
Advisory: ENGR 101 and ENGRD 310 with grades of "C" or better, or ESLR 320 and ESLW 320 with grades of "C" or better.
Transferable: CSU; UC
General Education: CSU Area C1
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course is designed to give the student a non-threatening opportunity to explore performance of Shakespeare plays. It is designed primarily to help the student attend Shakespeare plays, in live performance or on film, not necessarily to create Shakespearean actors. Some of the topics covered include acting, language, stage combat, and auditioning techniques. Students will gain insights into the historical and cultural context of Shakespeare’s works through their performances, and then discuss the contemporary relevance of those works.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- identify the unique characteristics of Shakespearean theatre and performance.
- explain how to attend and watch a Shakespeare performance.
- analyze, rehearse, and perform a Shakespeare scene.
- describe the fundamentals of iambic pentameter.
- demonstrate proper stage combat techniques.
- describe the costumes, stage settings, and basic theatre architecture in Shakespeare’s theatre.
- analyze, rehearse, and perform a Shakespeare monologue.

TA 370 Theatre Movement

Units: 2
Hours: 18 hours LEC; 54 hours LAB
Prerequisite: None.
Transferable: CSU; UC
General Education: CSU Area C1
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course is an active participation and performance experience designed to provide opportunities in discovery and solving movement tasks of the actor. The course incorporates exercises to expand the individual’s movement repertoire for characters and scenes, as well as training in specific movement areas, such as combat, period style, and dance.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:
demonstrate practical techniques of stage combat, dance, mime, and period style.
compare and contrast body movements as they relate to acting problems.
analyze the manners, dress, and dance forms of historical periods relevant to the stage.

TA 395 Playwriting

| Units:       | 3
| Hours:       | 54 hours LEC
| Prerequisite:| None.
| Advisory:    | ENGWR 101 or ESLW 340 with a grade of "C" or better.
| Transferable:| CSU
| Catalog Date:| June 1, 2020

This course includes the writing, reading, performing, critiquing, and revising of original work. Students will write continually throughout the semester, and their work will be read, performed, and discussed in class. Students will complete a full-length play by the end of the semester.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- write realistic and interesting dialogue.
- create full, believable characters.
- construct the arc of a story within the dramatic structure of a play.
- write a full-length play.

TA 404 Techniques of Puppetry

| Units:       | 3
| Hours:       | 36 hours LEC; 54 hours LAB
| Prerequisite:| None.
| Advisory:    | ENGWR 51 and ENGRD 110, or ESLW 310 and ESLR 310, with grades of "C" or better, or placement through assessment.
| Transferable:| CSU
| General Education: | CSU Area C1
| Catalog Date:| June 1, 2020

This course explores puppetry as a dramatic medium. Topics to be covered include history and development of puppetry; puppet design and creation; puppet manipulation and improvisation; and puppet play production techniques and applications.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- analyze a dramatic piece for plot development.
- develop original material using standard dramatic structure.
- dramatize a story with appropriate puppet movement and dialog (using improvisation and/or rehearsal).
- use voice and puppet movement to develop character and motivation.
- explore interaction of small group improvisations and the performer/audience relationship.
- analyze puppet design in relation to script, resources, materials, and skill levels.
- apply basic craft skills used in puppet construction (clay and foam modeling, casting, sewing, woodworking, painting, etc.).
- design and construct puppets representing the basic puppet classifications.
- prepare and execute productions using these puppets.
- evaluate and develop scenic elements, props, sound, lights, costumes, special effects, and stages for these productions.
- develop critical and evaluative listening and communication skills in the production development process.
- evaluate the application of puppetry in education, therapy, live and filmed theatrical performance, and other areas.
- synthesize information from outside areas (art, music, psychology, etc.) with class information.
- explore and develop games, exercises, plans, scripts, designs, and apply to puppetry in a selected field.

TA 420 Stagecraft

| Units:       | 3
| Hours:       | 36 hours LEC; 72 hours LAB
| Prerequisite:| None.
| Transferable:| CSU; UC
| C-ID:        | C-ID THTR 171
| Catalog Date:| June 1, 2020

This course covers the basic materials used in the construction of scenery and properties, as well as construction and painting techniques. Scenery and backstage organization are explored through a combination of lecture and practical experience gained by working on department productions.

Student Learning Outcomes
Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- demonstrate proficiency in scenic production skills
- identify and evaluate scenic tools, materials, and processes
- analyze and apply information derived from scenic plans
- analyze scenic production problems
- evaluate alternatives and recommended solutions

TA 422 Stage Lighting

Units: 3
Hours: 36 hours LEC; 72 hours LAB
Prerequisite: None
Transferable: CSU; UC
C-ID: C-ID THTR 173
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course is an introduction to the basic concepts of lighting the stage, film, and television. The course covers the planning of lighting from the basics of electricity, equipment, and control to the design elements of color, space, scenery, and movement to produce a lighting design.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- demonstrate stage lighting skills
- identify and evaluate stage lighting equipment and processes
- analyze a light plot to produce a full scale show
- analyze artistic lighting components (color, angle, style, etc)
- evaluate a script, and setting and develop an appropriate lighting design

TA 423 Introduction to Scene Design for the Stage

Units: 3
Hours: 36 hours LEC; 72 hours LAB
Prerequisite: TA 420 with a grade of "C" or better
Transferable: CSU; UC
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course will cover the techniques and procedures in application of design, color, and perspective in designing scenery for the stage. It will consist of developing floor plans; methods of pictorial representation of ideas, scale drawings, color perspective, and models.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- complete a detailed script analysis
- create and support a design concept for a production
- analyze scene design problems and evaluate alternative solutions
- develop a complete scenic design package to include: sketches of design concept, drafted floor plan, drafted elevations, finished color rendering, or color scale model

TA 424 Advanced Technical Theatre

Units: 3
Hours: 36 hours LEC; 72 hours LAB
Prerequisite: TA 420 and 422 with grades of "C" or better
Transferable: CSU; UC
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course will explore advanced technical theatre production techniques and design in the areas of scenery, props, lighting, sound, scenic painting, rigging or stage management, and costumes through individual projects and participation in major productions.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- formulate alternative solutions to theatrical production situations
- demonstrate proficiency in problem-solving solutions to production issues (scenic and or lighting)
- evaluate the scenic and or lighting requirements of a scene or play (through the script, setting, and director's concept) and develop an appropriate solution to the problem
- formulate and execute a lighting plan that will provide the visibility as well as artistic needs of a production (color, angle, style, etc.) and demonstrate the ability to create a construction plan to build a solution to a production problem that is both artistically viable as well as safe
- work as a theatre technician in community, educational, and professional theatres
● demonstrate leadership skills in functioning as a crew leader in the construction and implementation of stage lighting solutions
● evaluate the requirements of a scene or play (through the script, setting, and director’s concept) and develop an appropriate lighting design or scenic solution
● lead work crews in the construction of basic scenic units and the hanging and focusing of standard theatrical lighting instruments

TA 430 Costume Construction

Units: 3
Hours: 36 hours LEC; 54 hours LAB
Prerequisite: None.
Transferable: CSU; UC
C-ID: C-ID THTR 174
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course explores the basic areas of costume construction. Topics include fabrics, color, patterns, sewing techniques, costume pieces, and accessories. Period styles, costume analysis, and basic design are also covered. This course offers experience in constructing costumes for theatrical productions. Through the construction of costumes for the Theatre Arts productions students will learn techniques of pattern drafting and sewing for stage use.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

● demonstrate basic design skills and basic patterning, construction, and alteration techniques using various sewing machines and hand sewing tools.
● employ basic costume construction, patterning, and alteration techniques using the common machine and hand tools of the craft.
● formulate alternative solutions to theatrical production situations.
● analyze the historical, artistic, and social environments of various periods and their resultant styles.
● explain the composition, properties, and construction of fabric and demonstrate textile manipulation techniques.
● build and evaluate an artistic and practical solution to the costume requirements of a dramatic work.

TA 436 Historic Costuming

Same As: FASHN 335
Units: 3
Hours: 36 hours LEC; 54 hours LAB
Prerequisite: None.
Advisory: ENGRD 110 and ENGWR 101; or ESLR 320 and ESLW 320; FASHN 340, FASHN 301, LIBR 318, and MATH 34 with grades of "C" or better.
Transferable: CSU; UC
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

The impact of social, political, cultural, and economic issues on costume is explored from the cradle of civilization through modern times. Specific periods of fashion are researched to design and construct historically correct garments. Students will learn how to apply the principles of modern pattern making to various historical styles and use this knowledge to design and create historical costumes. The unique cut and construction of each historical period is covered, from undergarments to accessories, for each fashion period. Students will learn to create necessary adaptations to these garments for successful stage applications. One field trip is required. Credit may be earned for FASHN 335 or TA 436, but not for both courses. The cost per student to participate is approximately $35-$90.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

● compare the garments in various time periods.
● select specific fabrics, trims, and accessories to successfully reproduce a period garment.
● integrate techniques required to design and develop a period costume.
● demonstrate construction techniques in building costumes using 1/2-scale and full-scale models.
● discuss the effect of the political, social, and economic influences for each time period.
● evaluate an authentic period garment; discuss adaptations for the garment's transition to successful stage use.
● evaluate historic costume literature and resources for accuracy of historic costume presentations.

TA 437 Stage Make-up I

Units: 3
Hours: 36 hours LEC; 54 hours LAB
Prerequisite: None.
Transferable: CSU; UC
General Education: CSU Area C1
C-ID: C-ID THTR 175
Catalog Date: June 1, 2020

This course covers the basic techniques of theatrical makeup. It explores makeup materials, color and light, modeling techniques, and design elements in the development of makeup designs for corrective, old age, historical, stylized face, clown, animal, and fantasy makeup. Materials may cost students between $50 and $100.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:
demonstrate the basic techniques of theatrical makeup.
research and design makeup for straight, corrective, age, character, and fantasy situations.
analyze design elements and application techniques to achieve makeup designs for a variety of characters.
compile and organize a pictorial research notebook of photographs of people’s faces.
analyze the interaction of heredity, environment, temperament, health, and age as they are manifested in facial characteristics.
assess the creative use of makeup design to interpret a production and create visual characterization.
demonstrate proper knowledge of skin preparation, products, and safety procedures in application and removal of makeup.

TA 438 Stage Make-up II

This course includes special projects in the design and execution of character make-up for selected plays. Emphasis is on three-dimensional make-up techniques. Students will work in small groups to allow for more student-contact time and more advanced instruction. Materials may cost students between $50 and 100.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- identify and demonstrate the theory of three-dimensional make-up.
- develop and apply techniques of three-dimensional make-up for a variety of character analyses.

TA 440 Arts Management

This is a general survey course in arts management with emphasis on organization, marketing/development, and financial management. It also includes field work with an existing arts organization.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- demonstrate an understanding of the structure, organization, marketing, development, and financial management of an arts group through participation in an organization or an organizational development project.
- analyze the management, marketing, and development operations of arts organizations.
- demonstrate an understanding of the elements and processes of effective arts management.

TA 452 One-Act Play Workshop

This course explores the play production process. Class members collaborate in the analysis, preparation, and production of one-act plays through participation as directors, writers, actors, or technicians. The process culminates in public performances.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- analyze the evolution of a character in production from script to performance.
- write a character biography.
- recognize and resolve many of the obstacles associated with the creation and presentation of theatrical production.
- incorporate skills in an intensive rehearsal/performance environment of a play production.
- assess the responsibilities of the set designer, lighting designer, sound designer, special effects coordinator, technical director, writer, director and producer, and audience in relationship to the actor and the technician.
- incorporate an understanding of the actor's or technician's responsibilities through the application of rehearsal protocol.
- produce and perform a short play synthesising all of the above skills, thereby demonstrating an awareness of the professional responsibilities of an actor and/or technician associated with the audition, preparation, and performance of a theatrical production before a public audience.
TA 454 Race & Ethnicity in Performance I

This course investigates performance literature and traditions of the Americas, particularly of the United States. Students will research, study, rehearse, and perform the work of playwrights, poets, and solo performance artists and learn how to investigate and create identities for themselves and their audiences. Students may also write, compose, or develop original work as appropriate to topics covered regarding traditional and contemporary performance, as well as participate in public performances. Specific readings and topics may adapt to the interests and needs of the current semester.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- apply critical theory for analyzing race and ethnicity as reflected in the performing arts.
- evaluate, rehearse, and perform performance texts.
- incorporate, adapt, and demonstrate interdisciplinary methods of performance, including ritual, storytelling, masks, poetry, spoken word, stand-up comedy, music, or visual art.
- create original performance texts though writing, directing, and performing self-written work.
- demonstrate skills in organizing, scheduling, rehearsing, and touring with a student-based performance ensemble.
- participate in public performances.

TA 455 Race & Ethnicity in Performance II

This course investigates the use of theatre, performance, and related disciplines for the purposes of pursuing educational equity, community development, and/or social action. The course will focus on local communities of Asian/Pacific Americans, Black/African Americans, Chicano/Latino/Hispanic Americans, Native Americans, or recent immigrant groups, their cross-cultural relationships, and their artistic movements in late 20th and early 21st century performance. Under the direction of the instructor, students will identify a contemporary college or community issue, collaborate on the development of an original, community-based theatre event, and participate in public performances. Specific readings and topics will adapt to the events and students current to the semester.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- analyze and apply vocabulary and critical theory with regard to race and ethnicity as subjects for play production and audience development.
- distinguish and classify theatrical performances in the contexts of entertainment, education, community awareness, and socio-political propaganda.
- create, analyze, rehearse, and perform original performance texts based on events relevant to contemporary local communities of Asian/Pacific Americans, Black/African Americans, Chicano/Latino/Hispanic Americans, Native Americans, or recent immigrant groups.
- identify their role as a performing artist in the context of local, national, and global artistic movements.
- organize performance events on campus and in the local community.
- incorporate interdisciplinary, cross-cultural methods of performance, including playwriting, ritual, storytelling, masks, poetry, spoken word, stand-up comedy, music, and visual art into a single original production.
- demonstrate skills in writing, directing, or performing original texts.
- apply skills in organizing, scheduling, rehearsing, and touring a student-based performance ensemble.
- evaluate the rehearsal and performance process.

TA 494 Topics in Theatre Arts

This course is designed to give students an opportunity to study topics in theatre that are not included in current course offerings. UC transfer credit will be awarded only after the course has been evaluated by the enrolling UC campus. The units completed for this course cannot be counted towards the minimum 60 units required for admissions.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- analyze background and current status of special topic.
- apply concepts acquired from the special topic in practical applications.
TA 495 Independent Studies in Theatre Arts

This course involves an individual student or small groups of students in study, research, or activities beyond the scope of regularly offered courses, pursuant to an agreement among college, faculty members, and students. Independent Studies in Theatre Arts offers students a chance to do research and/or experimentation that is more typical of advanced studies in Theatre Arts. UC transfer credit will be awarded only after the course has been evaluated by the enrolling UC campus. The units completed for this course cannot be counted towards the minimum 60 units required for admissions.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- demonstrate facility with the materials, tools, and techniques specific to the proposed theatre arts project.
- demonstrate an understanding of the process by which specific ideas are developed into finalized theatre arts projects.
- demonstrate the ability to produce theatre projects independently.

TA 498 Work Experience in Theatre Arts

This course provides a supervised work experience in a professional theatre setting. Students may be assigned to work the box office, wardrobe, scenery construction, properties, lighting and sound, stage management, costuming, makeup, design, or acting. Work Experience may be taken for a total of 16 units when there are new or expanded learning objectives.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- utilize practical experience in working with theatre professionals.
- demonstrate an understanding of the actual day-to-day operations of a theatre and the problems encountered therein.
- demonstrate an understanding of the variety of career paths in the professional theatre.
- integrate classroom work with solutions to on-the-job problems in the work setting.

TA 499 Experimental Offering in Theatre Arts

This course involves an individual student or small groups of students in study, research, or activities beyond the scope of regularly offered courses, pursuant to an agreement among college, faculty members, and students. Independent Studies in Theatre Arts offers students a chance to do research and/or experimentation that is more typical of advanced studies in Theatre Arts. UC transfer credit will be awarded only after the course has been evaluated by the enrolling UC campus. The units completed for this course cannot be counted towards the minimum 60 units required for admissions.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- demonstrate facility with the materials, tools, and techniques specific to the proposed theatre arts project.
- demonstrate an understanding of the process by which specific ideas are developed into finalized theatre arts projects.
- demonstrate the ability to produce theatre projects independently.

Theatre Arts Performance (TAP) Courses

TAP 300 Modern Rehearsal and Performance I

This course is the first level of four courses that provide a workshop training experience for students performing in their first role in a modern theatre production.
